Location partners can leverage the Revshare Racing platform to generate reliable, recurring revenue with minimal operational effort. The simplest entry point requires little upfront investment—just provide space for the simulators while a Vending Partner handles cleaning, maintenance, and system updates. Each rig becomes a destination attraction, bringing in new and repeat customers who stay longer and engage more with your location. As cashflow builds from daily experiences, you can strategically expand by adding additional rigs or opening new locations, increasing revenue potential. This creates a natural progression: start with minimal capital, generate predictable income, and scale strategically, all while benefiting from the national prize ecosystem that motivates drivers to return.
